

2002 NARRATIVE REPORT

During 2002, the work of associates of BalkanKult was well within the development plans and long-term programs, Nordic Balkan Cultural Cooperation, the Role of Cultural Foundations, Funds and Endowments in the SEE and Culture Catalogue. Some annual projects were executed as well.

The associates of BalkanKult find the results in 2002 satisfying, especially considering the current conditions of the Balkan region.

PROJECTS

Nordic Balkan Cultural Cooperation

In 2002 the Steering Committee for Cultural Projects in The Nordic Council of Ministers decided to initiate a programme for cultural exchange with the South East European region and with the assistance of BalkanKult, situated in Belgrade, but working with cultural network in the Balkan region.

Nordic – Balkan multilateral cultural cooperation represents a unique opportunity for cultural cooperation whose basic motives are the stimulation of creative potential in both regions and the exchange of existing cultural programmes, all aimed at creating a more diversified cultural life. The main idea is to create a favorable environment for building “cultural bridges” through an increase in the mobility of people, ideas and expertise between these two geographically distant, but mutually very attractive regions.

One of the main objectives of this cooperation is the establishment of long-term cultural contacts. In this context, the Nordic- Balkan cooperation is much more than an exchange of concrete projects; it has a large-scale and comprehensive cultural mission.

The Role of Cultural Foundations, Funds and Endowments in the South East Europe

This project was a part of a greater European project entitled Creative Europe. Project objectives and goals included analysis and development of the necessary concrete steps for the future development of the foundation sector in the Balkan countries including:

- reorganization of the internal work of foundations
- influencing the authorities in order to create financial and legal environment for the development of the local foundations
- creation of a regional association of cultural foundations – Balkan Foundations Development Group

Among other activities, the project featured a 2 day₁ conference.

Culture Catalogue

Culture Catalogue is an information network of databases of: cultural institutions and associations, transnational foundations, networks, awards, programs, scholarship /bursary schemes, artists and competitions in more than 15 artistic and cultural disciplines in South East Europe. ARTCult BKK on-line database of cultural institutions and functions of culture in the SEE Region, as a part of the Culture Catalogue, has been regularly updated during 2002.

First Triennial of Balkan Ex-Libris – Tribel I

BalkanKult together with the Belgrade ex-libris circle organized an international ex-libris competition on the subject the Bridge to support co-operation amongst persons active in culture and media, artists and entities inside and outside of South-East Europe. The goal was also to facilitate and further develop communication, professional and technical trans-border artistic and cultural ties, as well as independent exchange of information.

The meeting of the international jury was held on September 3rd and 4th 2002. The Jury examined over 415 works from 183 authors from 19 countries including the five counties from outside the Balkan region (Argentina, Switzerland, Latvia, Ukraine, Poland and Hungary).

First presentation of the selected works was held at the Frankfurt Book Fair 2002, at the BalkanKult stand. Further exhibitions throughout the region are planned. One such exhibition took place in Belgrade, November 15th through 19th, in Gallery ULUS (Association of Artists of Serbia). Another was hosted by the Small Arts Saloon of the Cultural Center of Novi Sad the from December 23rd 2002 until January 8th 2003.
